OUR COMMUNITIES STRATEGY

The success of the Premier League both on and off the pitch enables us to make a significant investment in community work and the wider football world. Our strategy is to support clubs in their role as hubs at the heart of their communities.

Effective partnerships underpin club delivery of a wide range of activities for young people. We have a clear focus on investing in facilities, football and sports participation, as well as supporting education and skills.

A FOCUS ON FACILITIES

Delivering first-class facilities is a key element of our strategy to get as many people enjoying sport as possible. Facilities are delivered via the Football Foundation and the funding partnership between the Premier League, The FA and Government via Sport England.

"It's huge for schools and local communities. You can play on these pitches throughout the whole of winter – no games will have to be called off anymore."

Jermaine Jenas, former Premier League player who visited a new pitch in Nottingham funded by the Premier League and the FA Facilities Fund.

DELIVERING SPORT IN SCHOOLS

From running PE lessons across the country to organising national competitions for schools, the Premier League aims to build a sporting habit for life and create more opportunities to play in competitive football matches.

INSPIRING YOUNG PEOPLE

Premier League Kicks uses the reach and appeal of professional football clubs to engage young people from challenging communities in regular football, sport and personal development activities.

"We've got huge amounts of child poverty, deprivation, illiteracy and kids who have a lack of self-esteem. A project like Premier League Kicks can totally turn their lives around."

Boris Johnson, MP, Mayor of London

"It's just about helping the community really. It shows that you can come from nothing and become something. Crystal Palace Kicks is giving them a chance to come and show their talent and that's a great opportunity."

"Football is the draw, that's why we have forged a strong partnership with the Premier League. The clubs' qualified coaches then build a real relationship and hopefully get them back in education, training or even employment. It just works."

LOCAL TO GLOBAL

Premier Skills is our long-standing international initiative which engages young people in challenging areas around the world.

Premier Skills combines the global appeal of the Premier League, the British Council's international network and our clubs' experience in delivering community football programmes in the UK.

"Premier Skills has had great success around the world in helping young people gain the skills to reach their full potential. Through working to reduce violence and gender discrimination, I'm sure this project will do the same for the women and girls of western Kenya."

Ciaran Devane, British Council Chief Executive

"Seeing the commitment of the people we train to making a difference to others is hugely rewarding. In Jakarta I was training university students to deliver inclusive football sessions to street children and youngsters on the margins of society. Despite being so young, these coaches were eager to learn and determined to improve themselves for the benefit of those around them."

DEVELOPING POTENTIAL

The 'football pathway' shows one route young people can follow to play regularly, access competitive opportunities and even make a career in the game.

The Premier League's focus on youth and education not only gets young people playing sport, but also engages communities. This delivers improvements to health and confidence, as well as pathways into volunteering and employment.

REGULAR PARTICIPATION

Fun, inclusive sessions in schools and communities to develop a life long love of sport.

COMPETITIVE FOOTBALL

Progression to teams and leagues and playing in local and national competitions.

"I've been with the club since I was eight and after volunteering on City in the Community projects like Kicks, I'm so pleased to now work on our girls' football and school sport sessions too."
Alex Brooks, signed a professional deal with Manchester City Women in 2015.

"I still drop in to my old Kicks project sometimes – the sessions make a big difference to young people. I'm really proud to say that I'm a product of the Arsenal Academy and of what the club delivers on London estates."
Kaylen Hinds, England youth international, signed as a professional with Arsenal in 2015.

CHANGING LIVES

Premier League clubs provide many positive pathways to help young people make the most of their potential.

▲ Rachel Key was given the opportunity to present the Barclays Premier League trophy to Chelsea captain John Terry after the team's final match to recognise her achievements

"I'd had some tough times, but getting involved with Chelsea's Barclays Premier League Works scheme was such a positive step. It's given me so many skills, and I'm working hard towards becoming a fully-qualified coach."

"I wasn't going anywhere and had signed on the dole. I'd failed to get into university but the Challenge kept my head high and improved my presentation skills. This year I secured a place at King's College to study medicine."

▶ Flossie Adams at a Stoke City Premier League 4Sport volleyball session

Flossie hadn't played volleyball before attending Premier League 4Sport with Stoke City. Coach Anthony Viggars built on her enthusiasm, encouraging her to volunteer to help the younger ones:

"She was a timid girl, but is now a confident young woman. It's working so well – six of the eight young coaches at the school's session, including Flossie, were originally participants."
